Call for Papers & First Notice

There is a good demand for providing a wide range of support services such as towage, anchor handling, fire fighting, pollution control measures, loadout, transportation and installation activities, and logistics support for offshore oil and gas industry.

A 2 day event comprising three sessions of technical papers presentations and an experts' panel discussion, the conference will provide a platform for designers, builders, OSV/DSV owners, operators, drilling contractors, installation contractors to present and discuss future needs and challenges, as the search for hydrocarbons moves into deeper waters.

The conference will consider a wide range of vessel types including Towing and anchor handling vessels, offshore supply vessel, multi purpose support vessels, drilling tenders, accommodation barges, crew boats etc.

Technical papers are invited on following areas:

- Design & Build
- Future Operational Needs of OSV/SV Operators, Drilling contractors
- Research & Development for specialized equipment for position keeping, underwater inspection & maintenance
- Classification & Statutory requirements
- Patrolling & security of offshore assets
Abstract Submission
Paper selection will be based on a one-page abstract of between 250-400 words in length. Abstract submitted should include the title, authors’ names and affiliations. A template of the abstract can be downloaded from the conference website (www.osvsingapore.org). Abstract should be submitted on-line.
